

Route 288 Chesterfield County Change in Limited Access Control Willingness for Comment

The Commonwealth Transportation Board (CTB) established limited access right-of-way for Route 288. A private developer has requested to relocate a portion of the existing limited access property line along Route 288 south between Powhite Parkway (Route 76) and Genito Road (Route 604) in Chesterfield County. The roadway and access to or from Route 288 will not be affected.

The proposed change would affect approximately 1,280 linear feet of the existing limited access right-of-way along Route 288 with an average relocation distance of 27 feet. The relocated segment of limited access right-of-way would be parallel to existing Route 288 south and will maintain a continuous limited access control between Powhite Parkway (Route 76) and Genito Road (Route 604). No new access to or from Route 288 will be permitted as a result of this requested change to the limited access right-of-way.

Citizens are encouraged to submit written public comment regarding this proposed change by May 24, 2019, to Adam Wilkerson, P.E., Central Area Land Use Engineer, Virginia Department of Transportation (VDOT), 3301 Speaks Drive, Midlothian Virginia 23112. The CTB will consider this request for proposed limited access change at a future meeting.
