Follow these 7 steps to plan a Walk or Bike to School event in 7 days:

1. Get the school’s principal to approve a walk or bike to school event.

2. If this is part of International Walk to School Day (iWalk) or National Bike to School Day, register the school’s event on www.walkbiketoschool.org to be counted among the millions of iWalk participants. Registering your event will also give you access to valuable resources and promotional materials. If your event is not part of these nationwide events, let the Virginia SRTS program know. Just send us a note at info@VirginiaSRTS.org.

3. Invite students and parents to participate in your event. If the school has a newsletter or a website, use those existing communications outlets to announce your event. Visit walkbiketoschool.org for posters and fliers that can easily be printed on a home computer. The Virginia SRTS program has a great event materials, too. Take a look our website under Marketing Toolkit.

4. If this event is part of International Walk to School Day or National Bike to School, check out the the Who’s Walking Map or Who’s Biking Map, to see if there are other registered events and resources in the area. It’s a quick way to find out what is already happening and to identify a local contact willing to share event planning tips and information.

5. On the day before your event, distribute take home flyers to students and make a reminder announcement on the school’s intercom system encouraging students to walk or bicycle to school the next day.

6. Create posters or a banner that will greet students when they arrive at school on the date of your event. Potential phrases include “Thanks for walking” “It’s Walk to School Day” or “It’s Cool to Bike to School!”

7. Ask students to list the Top 10 ways they got their parents to walk and bike to school with them, Top 10 reasons to walk and bike to school or Top 10 things that need improvement. Save the students’ lists to get ideas for next year’s event.
